

John Sackton, President, Seafood.Com

John Sackton is Founder of SeafoodNews.com, and has been in the seafood industry for 40 years. For the past twenty years, in addition to writing daily news stories, he has also been a market analyst and researcher on crab, lobster, shrimp, cod, pollock, salmon and other products. He has worked with both harvesters and processors on the market outlook for these items in Alaska, Newfoundland, Maritime Canada, and the US West Coast. He has been giving an annual overview of US seafood markets to the FCC for approximately fifteen years and is happy to continue again this year.

John Sackton will give his annual review of the US Seafood Market, with emphasis on products important to Canadian Exporters including Lobster, Snow Crab, Coldwater Shrimp, Cod, Salmon, Scallops, Oysters, and Mussels. He will also discuss overall trends in US seafood consumption at retail and foodservice, and the impacts of the US initiated trade war on the Us and Canadian seafood industry.
